Additional Risk Factors Relating to the Notes

Further developments regarding COVID-19

In addition to the related risks described in the Base Prospectus (including without limitation "The worldwide economic effects of the spread of COVID-19 could adversely affect JFM's business, results of operations and financial condition" and "If Japanese economic conditions do not improve or if they worsen, JFM's business operations, results of operations and financial condition may be negatively affected"), prospective investors should note that, on 7 April 2020, Prime Minister Abe initially declared a state of emergency through 6 May 2020 covering Tokyo, Chiba, Kanagawa, Saitama, Osaka, Hyogo and Fukuoka prefectures, and further extended the state of emergency to cover all prefectures in Japan on 16 April 2020. Although Prime Minister Abe subsequently lifted that state of emergency for all prefectures during May 2020, on 7 January 2021, in response to an increase in COVID-19 infections in certain regions of the country, Prime Minister Suga declared a state of emergency covering Tokyo, Chiba, Kanagawa and Saitama prefectures which was initially scheduled to remain in effect until 7 February 2021. On 13 January 2021, the Japanese government expanded the second state of emergency to cover another seven prefectures. The second state of emergency for the prefectures (other than Tochigi prefecture) was subsequently extended until 7 March 2021. Further restrictions on activities may be introduced, including requests or instructions for businesses to close, and the state of emergency may be extended, or expanded to cover other areas of Japan, such as additional prefectures. The continuing impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and the countermeasures adopted in response thereto remains uncertain and may vary significantly in terms of severity and duration of the COVID-19 pandemic in Japan and elsewhere.
