The following legend will appear on all Notes and Coupons: “Any United States person who holds this obligation will be subject to limitations under the United States income tax laws including the limitations provided in sections 165(j) and 1287(a) of the Internal Revenue Code.”

The exchange of a Permanent Global Note for definitive Notes upon notice from Euroclear and/or Clearstream, Luxembourg (acting on the instructions of any holder) or at any time at the request of the Issuer should not be expressed to be applicable in the applicable Pricing Supplement if the Notes are issued with a minimum Specified Denomination such as USD200,000 (or its equivalent in another currency) plus one or more higher integral multiples of another smaller amount such as USD1,000 (or its equivalent in another currency). Furthermore, such Specified Denomination construction is not permitted in relation to any issue of Notes which is to be represented on issue by a Temporary Global Note exchangeable for Definitive Notes.

9 Stamp Duty

The Issuer shall promptly, and in any event before any penalty becomes payable, pay any stamp, documentary, registration or similar taxes and duties payable in Japan, the United Kingdom, The People's Republic of China or any other jurisdiction in which a Relevant Accountholder may reasonably commence proceedings against the Issuer in connection with the entry into, registration, performance, enforcement or admissibility in evidence of this Deed and shall indemnify the Relevant Accountholders against any liability with respect to or resulting from any delay in paying or omission to pay any such tax.

This Deed and any non-contractual obligations arising out of or in connection with this Deed shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, English law.

- (a) The Issuer hereby irrevocably agrees that the courts of England and the courts of Japan are to have jurisdiction to settle any disputes, whether contractual or non-contractual, which may arise out of or in connection with this Deed and accordingly any legal action or proceedings arising out of or in connection with this Deed (Proceedings) may be brought in such courts. The Issuer irrevocably submits to the jurisdiction of such courts and waives any objection to Proceedings in any such courts whether on the grounds of venue or on the grounds that the Proceedings have been brought in an inconvenient forum. This submission is for the benefit of the Relevant Accountholders and shall not limit the right of any of them to take Proceedings in any other court of competent jurisdiction nor shall the taking of Proceedings in one or more jurisdictions preclude the taking of Proceedings in any other jurisdiction (whether concurrently or not).
- (b) The Issuer irrevocably and generally consents in respect of any Proceedings anywhere to the giving of any relief or the issue of any process in connection with such Proceedings including, without limitation, the making, enforcement or execution against any assets whatsoever (irrespective of their use or intended use) of any order or judgment which may be made or given in such Proceedings, and agrees that any final order or judgment shall be conclusive.

- (c) The Issuer irrevocably appoints ICBC (London) plc of 81 King William Street, London EC4N 7BG, United Kingdom to receive, for it and on its behalf, service of process in any Proceedings in the courts of England. Taxation

The information provided below does not purport to be a complete summary of tax law in The People's Republic of China and in Japan and practice currently applicable. Prospective investors should consult with their own professional advisers.

PRC TAXATION

The following is a summary of the principal PRC taxation treatment under the Enterprise Income Tax Law, and Business Tax Regulations of the PRC, as well as the applicable supporting and interpreting notices and/or regulations (together, the PRC Tax Laws and Regulations), at the date of this Information Memorandum, of payments of interest (as defined in the PRC Tax Laws and Regulations) and certain other matters on the Notes to be issued by the Issuer under the Programme. This summary does not consider any double taxation treaties between the PRC and other jurisdictions. It does not consider the Notes issued in the PRC or held by a resident of the PRC (if any). It is not exhaustive and, in particular, does not deal with the position of certain classes of holders of Notes.

Prospective holders of Notes should also be aware that particular terms of issue of any Series of Notes may affect the tax treatment of that and other Series of Notes. The following is a general guide and should be treated with appropriate caution. Prospective holders of Notes should consult their professional advisers on the tax implications of an investment in the Notes for their particular circumstances.

1 Interest withholding tax

Under the PRC Tax Laws and Regulations, there are no explicit guidelines as to whether overseas Noteholders will be subject to interest withholding tax on income received from offshore branches of Chinese banks. Upon a strict interpretation of the PRC Tax Laws and Regulations, the interest on the Notes received by foreign Noteholders shall be subject to enterprise income tax (EIT) of 10% unless a foreign Noteholder is entitled to a reduced tax rate under a relevant tax treaty. According to the Enterprise Income Tax Law (EIT Law) and its implementation regulations, effective as of 1 January 2008, resident enterprises (such as Industrial and Commercial Bank of China (ICBC Head Office)) are subject to PRC taxes on their worldwide income; while non-resident enterprises¹ without institutions or establishments in China, or where institutions or establishments are established in China but there is no actual relationship with the income obtained by those institutions or establishments, are subject to EIT of 10% on income sourced from China (including interest income), unless a preferential tax rate is granted under any relevant double taxation treaties. According to Article 7 of the Implementing Regulations of the EIT Law, the source location for the interest income is the place where the enterprise or its institution or establishment who pays and bears the interest is situated.

As such, if the interest is paid by ICBC Head Office to the foreign Noteholders, such income is sourced from China and will be subject to EIT. However, when the Issuer issues the Notes and pays interest on the Notes it is unclear whether the interest will be viewed as being sourced from China.

From a PRC law perspective, an ICBC branch does not have independent legal status and is deemed to be part of the ICBC Head Office. Consistent with this is the fact that the tax treatment and operating results of a branch are consolidated with its head office for EIT reporting purposes. In this regard, the interest to be paid by the Issuer may also be deemed to be paid by ICBC Head Office, and a foreign Noteholder may be subject to EIT of 10%, unless a preferential rate as governed by a relevant double taxation treaty applies.

¹ Non-resident enterprises refer to enterprises established under the jurisdiction of a foreign country or region, whose effective management place is not within the PRC, that establish institutions or establishments in the PRC or that obtain income sourced from the PRC.

However, EIT will fall within the definition of Tax under the Notes. Under the relevant terms and conditions of the Notes, the Issuer is obliged to gross up any amount deducted in respect of Tax.

2 Other tax matters

Under the PRC Tax Laws and Regulations as presently in effect:

- Business tax and local surcharge on the payment of the interest — no business tax or local surcharges (i.e. urban maintenance and construction tax and education surcharge) shall be imposed on the interest payment to foreign Noteholders.
- Gains on disposal of Notes — the gains (if any) realized from the transfer of the Notes by the non-resident of the PRC are not being deemed as income sourced from the PRC and shall not be subject to the PRC income taxes.
- Stamp duty — no stamp duty is payable in the PRC on the issue or transfer of any Note provided that the Note or the transfer agreement (if any) will not be used in the PRC.
- Possible exemptions in practice – given the ambiguity in the PRC Tax Laws and Regulations, different tax authorities may have different interpretations or practical approaches to the treatment of PRC tax. As such, there is a possibility that interest payments made to foreign Noteholders could be paid free of taxes. However, withholding tax on the payment of interest will fall within the definition of Tax under the Notes. Under the relevant terms and conditions of the Notes, the Issuer is obliged to gross up any amount deducted in respect of Tax.

JAPANESE TAXATION

The discussion set forth below is included for general information only and may not be applicable depending upon a beneficial owner's particular situation. Beneficial owners are urged to consult their own tax advisors with respect to the particular consequences to them of holding and disposing of Notes in light of their own particular foreign and other tax laws and possible effects of changes in Japanese tax laws.

Notes

Interest payments on the Notes will be subject to Japanese withholding tax unless it is established that the Notes are held by or for the account of a beneficial owner that is (i) for Japanese tax purposes, neither an individual resident of Japan or a Japanese corporation, nor an individual non-resident of Japan or a non-Japanese corporation that in either case is a person having a special relationship with the Issuer as described in Article 6, Paragraph (4) of the Special Taxation Measures Act (a “specially-related person of the Issuer”), (ii) a Japanese financial institution designated in Article 6, Paragraph (9) of the Special Taxation Measures Act which complies with the requirement for tax exemption under that paragraph or (iii) a Japanese public corporation, financial institution or a financial instruments business operator described in Article 3-3, Paragraph (6) of the Special Taxation Measures Act which complies with the requirement for tax exemption under that paragraph. Interest payments on the Notes to an individual resident of Japan, to a Japanese corporation (except as described in the preceding paragraph), or to an individual non-resident of Japan or a non-Japanese corporation that in either case is a specially-related person of the Issuer will be subject to deduction in respect of Japanese income tax at a rate of 15.315% of the amount of such interest.

Interest on Notes of which the amount of interest is to be calculated by reference to certain indexes (as prescribed under the cabinet order relating to Article 6, paragraph 4 of the Special Taxation Measures Act) relating to the Issuer or a specially-related person of the Issuer will be subject to Japanese income tax even if paid to an individual non-resident of Japan or a non-Japanese corporation that is not a specially-related person of the Issuer.

Under the Special Taxation Measures Act and the cabinet orders and ministerial ordinances thereunder currently in effect, payment of interest on Notes outside Japan by the relevant Issuer to beneficial owners of Notes which are individual non-residents of Japan or non-Japanese corporations for Japanese tax purposes and which are not specially-related persons of the Issuer will not be subject to withholding of Japanese income tax, provided that such beneficial owners of the Notes establish that they are non-residents of Japan or non-Japanese corporations in compliance with the requirements under the Special Taxation Measures Act as summarised below:

- (1) if the Notes are held through a participant of an international clearing organisation or a financial intermediary (a Participant), (a) such Participant notifies the relevant Issuer of Interest Recipient Information (including (i) whether all beneficial owners of the Notes held through the Participant are individual non-residents of Japan or non-Japanese corporations (not being a specially-related person of the Issuer), or (ii) if there is any individual resident of Japan or Japanese corporation or any individual non-residents of Japan or non-Japanese corporations being in either case a specially-related person of the Issuer amongst the beneficial owners of the Notes, the amount of interest payments on the Notes for individual non-residents of Japan or non-Japanese corporations (not being a specially-related person of the Issuer) prepared by such Participant based on the information provided by the beneficial owners of the Notes, or (b) (if the Notes are further sub-deposited with a clearing organisation by the Participant) the Participant notifies the relevant Issuer of Interest Recipient Information through the clearing organisation, then the Issuer shall prepare an Interest Recipient Confirmation based upon the Interest Recipient Information and submit it to the competent Japanese tax authority (the competent tax authority); or
- (2) if the Notes are held otherwise than through a Participant, prior to each payment of interest on the Notes, the beneficial owner of the Notes files a “Claim for Exemption from Taxation” (providing, inter alia, the name and address of the beneficial holder of the Notes) with the competent tax authority through the Issuer or (if payment of interest is made through a financial intermediary) through the financial intermediary and the relevant Issuer.

Payment of interest on Notes to an individual non-resident of Japan or a non-Japanese corporation (not being a specially-related person of the Issuer) will be exempt from Japanese withholding tax if the beneficial owner thereof has complied with the requirements for tax exemption as provided above. However, such payment will be subject to Japanese income or corporate taxes payable otherwise than by way of withholding if such individual non-resident of Japan or non-Japanese corporation has a permanent establishment in Japan and receipt of such interest is attributable to the business of such individual non-resident of Japan or non-Japanese corporation carried on in Japan through such permanent establishment.

The above exemption from the withholding tax on interest payments on Notes is also applicable to Japanese designated financial institutions described in Article 6, paragraph 9 of the Special Taxation Measures Act which comply with the requirements for tax exemption under the Special Taxation Measures Act.

Other tax

Gains derived from the sale outside Japan of the Notes by a non-resident of Japan or a non-Japanese corporation are in general not subject to Japanese income or corporation taxes. No stamp, issue, registration or similar taxes or duties will, under present Japanese law, be payable by the beneficial owners in connection with the issue of the Notes.

Each Dealer has further agreed, and each further Dealer appointed under the Programme will be required to agree, that it will send to each dealer to which it sells any Notes during the distribution compliance period a confirmation or other notice setting forth the restrictions on offers and sales of the Notes within the United States or to, or for the account or benefit of, U.S. persons. Terms used in this paragraph have the meanings given to them by Regulation S under the Securities Act.

Until 40 days after the commencement of the offering of any Series of Notes, an offer or sale of such Notes within the United States by any dealer (whether or not participating in the offering) may violate the registration requirements of the Securities Act if such offer or sale is made otherwise than in accordance with an available exemption from registration under the Securities Act.

The Notes in bearer form are subject to U.S. tax law requirements and may not be offered, sold or delivered within the United States or its possessions or to a United States person, except in certain transactions permitted by U.S. tax regulations. Terms used in this paragraph have the meanings given to them by the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and regulations promulgated thereunder.
